MARKET PULSE — Weekly Trading Report

Sunday 13 September 2026

OUTLOOK · NEUTRAL-BEARISH

MACRO THEME

Markets enter the most important week of Q3: Fed poised to deliver +25bp hike to 3.75-4.00% (86% probability) following hot August CPI (3.4% YoY). Brent crude surged above $100 to $104.61 on Gulf shipping disruptions. US 10Y yields briefly touched 4.99%. ECB already delivered +25bp. The question has shifted from 'when will rates fall' to 'how much further will they rise.' Warsh press conference Wednesday is the paramount event for all instruments.

OVERVIEW

Risk-off tone dominates as oil above $100 and bond yields near 5% converge with a live Fed hike. US30 closed below critical 53,143 support. NAS100 consolidates 28,500-30,000 range. GER40 collapsed -4.7% from ATH on ECB hike and energy shock. Gold correction extends to -21.1% from Iran-war high. UK gilt crisis escalates with 30Y yields approaching 6%. BoE and BoJ also meet this week alongside the Fed. The CPI print Friday cemented the hike but equities bounced on the 'bad news is priced' dynamic.

TOP CONVICTION TRADES

#1 XAUUSD SHORT

ENTRY	TARGET	STOP
4,450-4,480	4,300	4,520

Bear trend intact: -21.1% from Iran-war ATH with higher real yields providing persistent headwind. Warsh unlikely to sound dovish with CPI at 3.4% and oil above $100. Friday bounce was CPI digestion, not trend change. Close above 4,510 invalidates near-term bear case. R:R 1:3.

#2 GER40 SHORT

ENTRY	TARGET	STOP
25,750-25,900	25,000	26,050

Structural reversal from ATH: oil above $100 crushes German industry, ECB just hiked, Fed about to hike. The 26,000 round number was Q3 support and is now firm resistance. Break below 25,361 opens 25,000 quickly. R:R 1:2.

#3 US30 SHORT

ENTRY	TARGET	STOP
52,800-53,000	52,000	53,250

Dow closed below critical 53,143.20 support and has not reclaimed it. Industrial composition means maximum sensitivity to Brent > $100 and yields near 5%. CPI bounce Friday may provide entry if it fades into the Fed. Warsh dovishness is the key risk. R:R 1:1.8.

ANALYSIS

US30 sold off from 53,559.99 to a low of 51,962.71 over two weeks, decisively losing the critical 53,143 level. Friday CPI bounce of +509 points was constructive but did not reclaim broken support. Oil above $100 and yields near 5% are direct headwinds for the industrial-heavy Dow. Fed hike Wednesday is 86% priced. Warsh tone is the binary: dovish = reclaim 53,143; hawkish = test 52,000.

	28,500		30,762

ANALYSIS

NAS100 held the 28,500-30,000 consolidation range perfectly across two weeks. The AI trade is intact but not accelerating — Broadcom earnings were mixed. The index is the most rate-sensitive in the basket: 10Y near 5% directly challenges mega-cap valuations. Warsh press conference is binary: dovish = rally through 30,000; hawkish = test 28,500.

ANALYSIS

GER40 suffered the worst reversal in the basket: -4.7% from ATH 26,618 to 25,361 low. ECB +25bp hike and Brent above $100 created a toxic mix for European industrials. The 26,000 round number is broken support now confirmed as resistance. Friday bounce to 25,568 was constructive but the structural damage is done.

ANALYSIS

AUDUSD traded a 0.7122-0.7239 range over two weeks — classic consolidation. RBA on hold, no fresh catalyst. Fed hike this week is USD-positive but well-telegraphed. 0.7200 has been tested multiple times and not held. Warsh tone is the key: hawkish could break the range lower toward 0.7100.

ANALYSIS

GBPCAD drifted within a 1.8607-1.8907 range as CAD benefited from Brent above $100 and GBP was pressured by the UK gilt crisis (30Y yields near 6%). BoE meets Thursday and UK CPI prints Tuesday — both are high-impact for GBP. Oil tailwind for CAD creates asymmetric downside risk for the pair.

ANALYSIS

Silver sits at an inflection point on the 50-week EMA at $65. Friday bounce of +2.55% was constructive. The metal continues to track gold as its primary driver but industrial demand provides relative support. Rate headwinds persist. Fed Wednesday is the dominant catalyst.

ANALYSIS

Gold extended its bear trend from the 30 Aug report, reaching a low of 4,292.20 before Friday's +1.47% bounce. The metal is at an inflection point per dailyforex.com. Bearish structure from the Iran-war ATH of 5,586 remains intact (-21.1%). Rate headwinds persist with 10Y near 5%. Warsh press conference Wednesday is the binary: hawkish = test 4,200; dovish = squeeze toward 4,630.
